Something to remember. On February 10th, every male person between the ages of 20 and 45 inclusive, who has not already registered, must go to the place nearest his home (designated elsewhere in this issue) and register. The cuts are from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. Competent persons will aid you in registering.

The old lady was evidently ill-advised about the time to be used at the city schools and her editorial on that subject was based on information that is NOW erroneous, since the school authorities have officially decided to go along with the rest of us so far as "time" is concerned. Her editorial was written and printed prior to the time we received the official information from Professor Rundle.

The sympathy of the community goes to Judge Allen, whose brother, Dr. Allen, of Goodman, died Tuesday of this week. This necessitated the postponement until next term of all cases on the docket except the Orrell case being heard today.

To our exchange list we add The Messenger, of DeKalb, now being edited and managed by Lamar Sledge, who helped us get the GOW started in 1937. Much luck to the new editor.

Our friend and subscriber, M. Clark who works in the Windy City, says he is going to write a piece about us always saying "Poor Mississippi." Shoot it in, Brother Clark.

The article about taxation appearing elsewhere was written by a former Grenadian who preferred to have his name omitted.

In proportion to its wealth, Grenada County spent as much in the last two weeks on court costs as the United States government is spending in the war effort.

Goodbye, Food Stamp Plan.

Aunt Ellis Terrell, who is only 87 says she is going to the Old Ladies Home when she gets old.

Since last Thursday, we have added eleven new subscribers to our list. This figure would not be impressive in the circulation department of the New York Times, The Tupelo Journal or the Commercial Appeal, but it denotes the steady growth which has characterized the GOW since it started in 1937.

It CAN happen to us.

Maybe, when the flag-draped boxes begin arriving from the Orient, our people will become aware that we are at war. At the present time, most people are most interested in getting some of the forty billions of dollars. The war to them seems to be of secondary importance.

America might as well prepare to hear more bad news before it begins to hear any good news. MacArthur's temporary holding action (and, at best that's all it is) is about the only bright spot in an otherwise dark picture.

As we did not have any ads to speak of, we are giving a lot of editorial advice this week.

Remember, our subscription rates advance four bits on March 1, 1942. This is due to two reasons: increased cost of getting out a paper, and decrease in advertising revenue. To continue operation, any business must receive more if it pays out more—or "go bust." A newspaper is, or should be a business institution; not a ragged tramp on the corner with a tin cup.

We have a new use for the "releases" that come into the office in increasing volume. We use the reverse side of the free paper for copy paper, and save our own paper. Hurry in more and more "releases."

That grand old lady of Mississippi, "Mother" Berry, of Blue Mountain College, is dead. No Mississippian, man or woman, ever lived a more useful life.

We wish to congratulate the men and women of Grenada who are entering so earnestly into the work in the defense schools. It is a very vital work, and it is a pity that more people do not realize the gravity of the situation and realize the urgency of the need for civilian defense. This war, you know, is total war, no holds barred; civilians as well as armed men are in peril.

Well, it looks like our community will have an air port, whether it is ever taken over by the army or not.

Aunt Katie Hall, of Pensacola, has been added to our limited number of complimentary subscribers.

CITY AND COUNTY MAY BUILD AIRPORT NORTH OF GRENADA

It having developed that the army will not even consider anything except an established air field for the creation of a government-sponsored civilian air school, the county and city have tentatively agreed to use the $25,000.00 (or so much thereof as is necessary) to purchase 640 acres of land - on which they now hold an option - from Will Hayward for about $19,000.00 and build two standard runways. The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. E. L. Morrow, appeared before the Board of Directors Tuesday night and disclosed what he had found out about the new regulations governing the establishment of these civilian air schools. The idea of building a field so that Grenada could go to the army and say, "All right, Uncle Sam, WE HAVE THE FIELD, what now?", appealed to the Board of Directors and to the five members of the City Council who were present. The latter gentlemen agreed informally to participate in the plan. On Wednesday morning, Mr. Morrow and many directors of the C. of C. appeared before the county board of supervisors and presented the same plan, to which the supervisors agreed. A committee consisting of Supervisor J. L. Elliott of District 5, one member of the city council to be appointed by the Mayor, and Mr. Morrow, is to work with the attorneys, Hon. Cowles Horton and Hon. Sam Mims, attorneys for the city and county respectively, to work out the details of exercising the option, as well as to make application to the WPA for assistance in building the airport. It does not necessarily follow that the WPA's assistance will be used, for the county forces and the terracing outfit (which the county requested to assist in the grading) may do the necessary earth work.

It seems, from the discussion heard at the meeting, that should the Army never use the airport, Grenada was a growing community, and with people rapidly becoming air-minded, the airport would be a future asset to the community, aside from the value of the well drained section of and along side the railroad and highway.

Miss Lola Bell Horton's Father Died

The sympathy of the community is extended to Miss Lola Bell Horton, Grenada Bank employee, in the passing of her father, Mr. James P. Horton, on Friday, January 30, 1942 at his home in Louisville, Miss. Miss Horton was called home on Wednesday.

The following is from the Commercial Appeal:

Louisville, Miss., Feb. 1.—Funeral services for James P. Horton, 71 were held at the Pleasant Hill Church near here. Burial was in the Church cemetery.

Mr. Horton, a retired planter, died of a heart attack here at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Russell Griffin, Friday night.

He was a member of one of Winston County's pioneer families and had spent his entire life here. He was a farmer and livestock owner.

He is survived by the following other children: Mrs. Alice Turner, of Ethel, Miss.; Mrs. Ivan Massey, of Alabama; and Miss Lola Bell Horton, of Grenada; I. Woodward Horton, of Louisville, Capt. Pressley Horton, of San Francisco, Calif.; Lieut. Ebb Horton, of Biloxi; Homer Lee Horton and Clark Horton, of Starkville, Miss.

City Schools Will Observe War Time

The Trustees of Grenada City Schools, realizing that any time schedule for the schools other than the "War Time" schedule would mean inconvenience in many ways, have decided that our schools operate with the same schedule as now prevails. School clocks will be moved up one hour and schools will begin at 8:20 as heretofore but by the new time which is one hour earlier than the old time. Thus the schools are cooperating with every other institution and organization. This schedule goes into operation Monday morning, February 9. Parents are requested to see that children report to school on time.

Very sincerely yours,
JOHN RUND, Supt.
Grenada City Schools.

We decided about a year ago that a newspaper office did not have to look like a hoo-doo's nest and we have tried to make our place of business as attractive as circumstances will permit. We have found out that people like to trade in neat looking newspaper and printing office.

Three Addresses Sunday By Mr. R. G. LeTourneau

On Sunday, February 1, Mr. R. G. LeTourneau, an outstanding industrialist in the business world and certainly an outstanding Christian business man in America, spoke to a packed church at three meetings at the First Baptist Church in Grenada. At 11:00 o'clock Mr. LeTourneau spoke on "God Is My Partner." His very sincere message was given in a most pleasing and enlightening manner and the congregation showed their appreciation of his message by their devout attention. All three services were attended by capacity crowds, made up from all churches in Grenada and many interested people from out of town.

Mr. LeTourneau lives by the standards set by devout Christians and one of the main benefits derived from such service was the joy of service to the Lord. He is a happy man. He is a generous man and he is a man who is concerned with the duties of telling other laymen of the great joy he secures from working for the Lord. After hearing this great man talk one feels that the Golden Rule is the rule by which to live.

Mr. LeTourneau gives to the proclamation of the Gospel of Christ, 90 percent of his income, saying that a man should be judged by how much he keeps not how much he gives, for it all belongs to God.

It is interesting to know that this great speaker has enough engagements ahead now to keep him busy for the next ten years. He spoke more than five hundred times last year.

Grenada was most fortunate in hearing this great speaker and Mr. Wiley certainly did a great service when he secured so outstanding a layman to address the citizenship of our town and the citizens of this part of Mississippi.

GRENADA COUNTY AGRICULTURAL WAR BOARD ANNOUNCED TO DIRECT FOOD PRODUCTION

Orrell Murder Case To Be Concluded Today

After emptying the jury box, then refilling it, then emptying it again, and consuming last Friday, Monday of this week and until noon Tuesday, a 12-man jury was finally obtained for the trial of Robert Orrell, charged with the murder of Lee Bratton near Oxberry last October. Nearly 250 citizens were examined before a jury was completed.

It seems that Bratton killed two of Orrell's pigs, and, in retaliation, Orrell went to the cotton patch where Bratton was picking cotton with members of his family and killed Bratton with a charge of buckshot fired from a shot gun. The defense claimed that, when fired upon, Bratton was in the act of reaching into his sack as if to get out a weapon. Both young men lived near the Grenada-Tallahatchie line in the Turkeyfoot-Fork neighborhood in Beat Five, Grenada County. Each had a family.

Orrell is represented by Messrs. Cowles Horton, W. B. Nicols and Sam C. Mims of the local bar, while the State is represented by District Attorney Coleman, County Attorney Marshall Perry and W. L. Stone.

The jury is composed of the following citizens: P. F. Ferguson, Jack White, J. P. Cohen, D. L. Anderson, J. P. Britt, E. T. Hill, J. R. Norwood, Jasper Doler, J. W. McNeer, G. C. Leverett, J. P. Cook and James Ferguson.

The defense introduced about ten witnesses, while the State relied upon the testimony of about 8 witnesses.

(If the case is finished by press time we will insert an item, showing the result, at the top of the left hand column of this page.)

Are You Prepared? Learn First Aid For Defense

First Aid is the immediate temporary treatment in case of accident or sudden illness before the services of a doctor can be secured. Are you prepared to give that kind of treatment if war should come to Grenada?

We are at war. Invasion and air attacks are possible. A handful of Drs. cannot do the impossible if large numbers of persons are injured. The least that you can do is be prepared to take care of yourself and your family in an emergency.

If you are one of these people who will not face facts and who believes that we are safe from attack, you must still admit that accidents happen in normal life—flood, storm, wrecks, if you have children anything can happen. Time is precious and often 15 minutes before the Dr. arrives may mean life or death.

One First Aid class is being completed this week. From one to fifteen more classes will be started after Feb. 15. It is your duty to enroll now for one of these classes. They are free and open to every citizen of Grenada—the only cost is the time you must spend in class.

The following loyal citizens of Grenada are driving to Winona every night this week and next week to attend a class which will qualify them as instructors under the Red Cross program:

Mrs. D. G. Ross, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, Miss Mary Ella Collins, Mrs. E. L. Wilkins, Mrs. Frank Gerard, Miss Mary Haynes, Miss Ouida Elzy, Miss Pierce, Wm. Wright, N. L. Douglas, Art Quantrell.

The following colored women have also enrolled as instructors: M. C. Rayford, D. S. Lawrence, Carye Hoover.

You may enroll at the Mayor's office or call Art Quantrell, at Phone 111.

ART QUANTRELL,
Chairman, First Aid,

Rationing of Sugar Begins This Month

Government rationing of sugar, it was announced this week, will begin early this month with each person limited to about a pound a week.

Announcing the program, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said it was proposed, too, to recover excess stocks from persons who have hoarded supplies.

Designs for rationing books are being drawn and printed, it was learned, and details of the rationing machinery are nearly perfected.

Uncle Nan Staten was also a recent visitor from Oxberry center.

The United States Department of Agriculture has appointed an "Agricultural War Board" to each county to supervise the distribution of farm supplies and the production of sufficient food and feed crops to supply the United States and their allies. The War Board is composed of representatives of all Federal Agricultural Agencies and leading farm men and women of the county.

Mr. Hubert Clark, Chairman of the County AAA Committee, has been appointed Chairman of the War Board and J. L. Gaddy, County Agent, as Secretary. Other members consist of a chairman for each Beat and Community of the County. An important meeting of the County War Board has been called for next Tuesday, February 10, at 10:00 a. m. (check time) at the County Agricultural Building to discuss crop production goals, farm implements, repairs, and fertilizers needed by the farmers of Grenada County.

Mr. Robert W. Hays, County AAA Administrator, is Chairman of Beat One and will be assisted by the following chairmen: Mr. W. L. Aiel and Mrs. A. M. Yogo for the Elliott Community; Mr. B. W. McElwath and Mrs. W. H. Kirk for the The Plant Community; Mr. Walter Lott for the Nason Community; Mr. W. V. DeFord and Mrs. Vebina Nedy for the Grenada Community.

Mr. A. R. Summerberry, County F. S. A. Supervisor, has been named chairman of Beat Two and will be assisted by the following Community chairmen: G. S. Woods and Mrs. Griffith Shaw for Pleasant Grove Community; E. E. Gillog and Mrs. Guy James for Gore Springs Community; J. R. Parker and Mrs. J. R. Parker for Grayson Community; J. D. Blakes and Mrs. J. D. Carpenter for Providence Community; and T. A. Ligon and Mrs. Maud Willis for Williamsville Community.

Willis and Miss Catherine Williams for Sparta Community; Paul Phillips and Mrs. W. A. Hayward for Kirkman Community.

Mr. V. M. Carpenter, Assistant F. S. A. Supervisor, is Chairman of Beat Four and will be assisted by the following Community chairmen: T. W. Goodwin and Mrs. Barkley Coats for Hardy; J. L. Mitchell and Mrs. J. M. Strider for Pearlie Community; and E. L. Boleter and Mrs. W. H. Saunders for Goshlin Community.

Mr. Gummel, Vocational Teacher at Holcomb, is Chairman of Beat Five and will be assisted by the following Community chairmen: D. K. Hayden and Mrs. Ed Holcomb of Holcomb; A. W. Mullen and Mrs. W. D. Holman for Sparta Community; and H. D. Staten and Mrs. E. C. Staten for Oxberry Community.

Board Declines To Accept The Food Stamp Plan

At its meeting Wednesday morning, the Grenada County Board of Supervisors declined to take the final steps necessary for the establishment of the Food Stamp Plan in this county, the motion made by Supervisor L. P. Horton of District One to adopt the plan having failed to secure a second.

Present at this meeting were officials of the Surplus Marketing Administration as follows: H. A. Buffalo, District Supervisor, SMA; H. A. Reynolds, Area Supervisor, SMA; Bob Gilfoxy, Director of Community Distribution, SMA; Mrs. Mary Baker, D. P. W. Supervisor; Mrs. Hazel Shelton, District Supervisor, D. P. We Can Recapture That Trade

Although we may be slow to realize it, the present war can be made a boom to merchants in Grenada and in other towns, and as time goes on the benefits to local merchants will become greater and greater. However, to get the advantage of the situation, the local merchants cannot be content to sit down and do nothing about it, because, if he does that, he will lose the best opportunity he ever had to recapture his lost business.

Everyone agrees that the invention and the wide use of the automobile played the devil with the smaller communities and helped build up the larger communities. It not only upset the merchandising habits of the people but also its amusements and general ways of life.

With the coming of the automobile, many small towns became merely places for people to eat, work and sleep or their heavy shopping, for their extra amusements, our people drove to Memphis, Jackson or Greenwood, much to the chagrin of local merchants. This tendency ruined many businesses located in smaller communities.

Now things are changed. With new cars off the market and tires severely rationed, the people are going to stay home more. They will not spend three dollars worth of gas and oil and put two hundred more miles on their irreplaceable rubber tires to save four bits. They will not go to this extra expense of money and rubber to see a show in Memphis when likely the same show will be here in a couple of weeks.

We will soon find Grenada's many attractions coming into their own and Grenada recapturing much of the charm that it possessed at the turn of the century—before the gas and rubber era. We will go back to the more simple things and be happier for having done so.

Grenada, like other smaller communities, faces the opportunity of selling itself as a place to live, and opportunity to sell itself to large industry as a place least likely to be bombed in case of invasion.

What is Grenada going to do about it?

A Contemptible Outrage

For pure unadulterated gall, 42 members of the United States Senate have set an all-time record even for that body, never altogether free from brash venality.

With every man, woman and child in America being urged and forced where necessary, by law, to make sacrifices that we may win the war, with the youth of our land offering up their lives—these senators take advantage of the people's concentration elsewhere to vote themselves fat pensions!

With the most disgraceful exhibition of legislative pettiness ever written on our books by their trading with price bills and dodging of the inflation issue; with taxation soaring because of their selfishness and ignorance; with the people asked to bend their backs to a new load of a hundred billion dollars to save the Nation—all they can think of is the fattening of their own purses.

They want a pension—and have voted for it—because they are "employees of the Government!"

Since when did the Congress of the United States become employees of the Government? Have they played the role of White House bellhops so many years, begging for handouts, and trading what principles they pretend to possess for patronage; that now consider themselves employees?

Congress IS or should be—the Government—one branch of it. Senators and representatives are the representatives of the people and, therefore, ARE the Government.

This congressional pension racket has been attempted before but has been burned away each time by the white hot anger of an aroused people.

But the racketeers are at it again, in the hope that the public mind and heart and soul must needs be elsewhere in this darkest hour of our national life.

So grab while the grabbing is good!

Compared to some members of the United States Senate, Barabab was an honest man. He did not pretend to be a statesman and a gentleman.

Bicycle Riding

With the tire shortage, many persons in Grenada have bought bicycles, either for business use or for the purpose of "being in the swing" and keeping up with the Jones. More power to them, if they observe the traffic laws.

We hope that it will not require a tragedy (many of which have been averted only by good luck and the Grace of God) to awaken the riders and the city officers to the necessity of bicycle riders being just as observant of traffic regulations as are automobile drivers.

Let's not wait until the horse is stolen (until some person is killed or severely injured) before we close the stable door (observe all traffic laws applicable to automobiles).

This Might Work In Grenada

Nearly twenty years ago a small town in Michigan decided to stop attempting to locate factories within its limits, and determined to develop its rural neighborhood relations. Instead of factories, it sought to become the distributing center for the rich farmland about it. It made itself the civic center of the county and established urban conveniences for the neighborhood. Today the results show an increased business, increased facilities and increased population. This might be an example which it would be well for Grenada to follow.

Germans probably wake up at night and remember what Napoleon said, "The English lose every battle but the last one."

Poor Mississippi.

Woman's Point Of View

(Mrs. W. W. W.)

After answering the telephone a half dozen times and each time a lengthy discussion ensues concerning the same subject, one is apt to think that evidently a number of people are concerned about the same thing. This subject about which so many of our ladies, especially mothers of school children, is concerned is that on February 9th when the hour change is made in the Nation's clocks, that the school child in Grenada will go to school at 9:20 and arrive at home for lunch at 1 p. m. and home at 4 p. m. Their contention is this: That to be consistent in doing what the President wants, all should observe the change of time.

The household is awakened at 6:30 in order to have breakfast ready at 7 o'clock. The husband goes to work. Many wives, who work, or are going into defense classes wish to go to town at 8 o'clock, but Sonny and Sissy are still in bed and do not go to school until 9 o'clock—also they do not come to lunch until an hour after their father does and as they get out of school at 4 o'clock, are not ready for supper and bed as early as their parents are.

The cook grumbles enough about coming a whole hour earlier in the morning, so what do you expect from her when she has to serve two breakfasts, two lunches and stay an hour later at night because of the children.

The children in the country will not do any constructive work before leaving home in the morning and certainly will not do much when they arrive home after four o'clock.

We ask for guidance in this, another crisis.

With The Tire Shortage

With the stoppage of car manufacture, and with the return of the horse and buggy, we are inviting your attention to certain laws of the City of Grenada, laws still in full force and effect:

- (1) It is a misdemeanor to wantonly and cruelly beat, bruise, main or wound any horse, mule or ox.
- (2) No person shall inhumanly, unnecessarily, or cruelly treat, injure or otherwise abuse any horse, mule or ox; or overload or leave hitched to any rack or other place, or attach to any vehicle of any kind any horse, mule or ox; more than 12 consecutive hours; or unmercifully ride or drive any horse or mule in any avenue, street, lane or alley within the City.
- (3) No person shall fasten or hitch any horse, mule or ox to any sign, awning post, shade tree or box enclosing such tree, or to any fence, inclosing any park, grounds or enclosure.
- (4) No person shall ride, propel, drive, drag, roll or push a bicycle or other wheeled vehicle, baby carriages and invalid chairs excepted, on or over any of the sidewalks of the City.
- (5) It is prohibited to ride any horse or mule or ox with unnecessary speed on any street, avenue, alley or lane of the City.

THE SECRET WEAPON THAT WILL WIN THE WAR

Congress can't vote it.
Dollars won't buy it.

It's YOUR job to build it.

PUT UNITY INTO YOUR COMMUNITY.

Unity starts with U. To win the war stop private wars at home, on the job, with the neighbors. Honest apologies ends friction—start teamwork. If we all pull together, we will all pull through.

MEET SHORTAGE BY SHARING.

Use all of everything. Don't hoard. If everybody cares enough, and everybody shares enough, everybody will have enough.

KEEP THE MORAL STANDARDS OF THE NATION HIGH

Don't weaken the home-front by wangling something for yourself on the side.

Dishonesty and indulgence in you saps the nation's fighting strength. A decent world tomorrow depends on how you live today.

THE SECRET OF STEADINESS AND INNER STRENGTH IS IN EVERY PENNY.

"In God We Trust." Telephone wires may be cut, radio stations off the air, but no bombardment can stop us from being directed by God.

To listen to God and obey wherever you are is your highest national service.

HANG THIS IN YOUR HOME, OFFICE, STORE AND FACTORY!

Think About Us---

"Have a heart; think about our side," says a fellow editor in deprecating those mortals who are quick to ask their newspaper to print publicity of their pet plans but who carry their printing orders to some other place.

A newspaper's first responsibility is to print news. Some publicity, but not all, falls into the category. Therefore many times it is a distinct favor the paper is doing to print certain items.

On the other hand, the newspaper must have revenue to be able to print anything. That comes through advertising, subscriptions and job printing. We don't mean to monopolize all the "printing in this part of the world, but as a matter of common courtesy, it would seem that those we strive to help would want to help us in turn.

There are no hard feelings toward anyone about this matter. It just occurs that many persons may have the same attitude one fellow did when he handed an editor a publicity clipping to be published, "I gave my printing to so-and-so; I'll give you my news."—Brookhaven Leader.

We are glad to say that, through a consistent appeal to the sense of fairness of users of printing in Grenada, we are able to say that we believe we will eventually get a fair share of the printing as well as the free "news." The biggest trouble here is that we pay too many bills made out on billheads printed out of a town that has three printers.

A Funny Situation

It seems to us that most people are more interested in getting some of that forty billions of dollars appropriated for the conduct of the war than they are in winning the war.

Until this war is brought home to each and every individual citizen, the maximum war effort is not going to be exerted.

If we wait until the enemy gets to Duck Hill or Scooby, we are going to lose the war.

UNDER THE MAGNOLIA TREE

By Herbert B. Allen

Whenever my grand friend, Whyte Whitaker, requests some articles for the GCW he almost invariably requests some comment on the war at the top of the list. However, at the present time there are a myriad of activities, national and international, which have a direct bearing on the war and its prosecution.

Many circumstances and conditions in our financial, industrial, political and social life are vitally important to the end of winning or losing the war. Therefore there are comments and observations of a non-military character which are really as interesting and important to a knowledge of what is actually taking place in the world as are those dealing with the present and future movements of naval, military and aerial forces.

Because of the fact that there is no heading sufficiently broad to cover all of this wide field, I have decided to adopt the old title, "Under The Magnolia Tree" under which to comment on all matters which have a direct or indirect bearing on the prosecution of the war.

Whyte requests these articles for his readers largely on account of their independent viewpoint. Because of the fact that many unpopular statement will be made in this column, let it be remembered that they are written by a former officer of both the British and United States Armies, and that the writer is himself subject to call by the Adjutant General.

Because a writer's opinions may appear radical, that is no ground for the supposition that his thoughts are unpatriotic. For my part, I seek only the truth, be it pleasant or unpleasant. For example you will find the soldiers of the Rising Sun described by me as among the most brave and zealous in the world. The fact that they are enemy soldiers does not alter the truth with respect to their heroism.

The Japanese Navy will be described as strong, competent and daring—the Japanese Air Force as brave, but lacking initiative. In the attack on the great British naval base of Singapore, the world will witness one of the most courageous advances against guns of terrifying calibre that soldiers have ever undertaken. These are the facts as I understand them and seek honestly to present to my many friends in Mississippi. Those who do not care for such candid treatment of the news are under no compulsion to read what appears "Under The Magnolia Tree."

Although all of the articles will be written far from Mississippi and her beloved Magnolia trees, they will be written specifically for Mississippi readers. Although the world about me is cloaked in a deep mantle of white snow as these lines are written, I am writing for Southerners, and that is my justification for once again writing the column "Under The Magnolia Tree."

Herbert B. Allen.

Chicago, February 1, 1942

There is a strong resemblance between the duties of a ring master in a circus and those of a modern dictator like Hitler. For both men the show must go on—and the show must be made sufficiently attractive and alluring to keep the audience pleased and entertained. Hitler's show this winter has been an extremely dull and bitter tragedy. Had it not been for the sensational act being put on by his Japanese jugglers in the Far Eastern midway, thus diverting attention from the poor show in the main tent, Adolf would now be losing millions of faithful patrons in Germany.

In war, as in life, it is the unexpected that happens. Both England and Germany have enjoyed magnificent break at the most opportune moments.

In England's case, when the vaunted American aid failed to materialize, the gods smiled on Britain by sending the mad Hitler headlong into a Russian massacre.

And when Germany was in desperate straits this winter, executing what the German historians will probably term a "victorious retreat through Russian snows," the Son of Heaven, in Tokyo, paralyzed the American fleet by a light thrust at Pearl Harbor, while the Yanks were celebrating Saturday night with seductive sarongs and tropic temperaments.

But even the German public cannot be kept hopped up indefinitely by beating the war drums of "victorious defeats" in Russia. As the slow retreat of the Nazi armies will not cease for another two months, Hitler has got to get some more cheerful headlines into the German press immediately. It is not possible to halt the German retreat in Russia at this time so he must strike elsewhere, and strike boldly!

Three aspects of the present picture look very dark indeed to the dour German people. Hitler's predictions of victory were false—the comic epidemic of invalids among the Field Marshals of the German high command looks fishy even to a Nazi stalwart—and the Nazi army and the vaunted Luftwaffe have been obviously unable to hold the winter line against the despised, destroyed, defeated, dumb Russians. (And speaking of Russians and the difference between a Nazi and a German, there were over thirteen million votes cast in Germany for the German Communist Party at the last free general elections held in Germany!)

It is my opinion, Hitler is no longer trying to WIN. He is fighting now for PEACE on the best terms. So looking at the battle fronts of the world, with this thought uppermost in mind, let us see what light may be thrown on the events of the immediate future in the war zones.

Broadly speaking, the battle lines extend from the British Isles to the California Coast. There are three anchors to this far flung line. The British Isles are the first; Canada and the United States are the second; and Australia and New Zealand are the third. The vast distances which stretch between these homelands of the English speaking nations are one of the great obstacles to an early victory. In fact, if the U. S. Navy is really badly crippled, these great stretches of ocean are a great obstacle to a complete allied victory.

Britain's troops and supplies to the North African front have to be transported around the entire African continent, actually traveling farther than the distance from San Francisco to Singapore. The miraculous work of the Royal Navy has made the North African campaign possible. But the almost incredible stupidity, or treason, of our Hawaiian command has made the defense of a Pacific a very difficult operation.

While there is no actual alliance of the British and American navies in peacetime, there is a tacit understanding that the Royal Navy is paramount in the Atlantic and that the U. S. Navy is supreme in the Pacific. But the disaster at Pearl Harbor, coupled with Japan's good fortune in sinking two capital ships of the British Navy, off Malaya, at the outbreak of hostilities in the Pacific, has thrown the entire military and naval situation in the Far East into the worst possible confusion.

Germany and Japan will immediately seek to capitalize on our temporary weakness. It is Japan's supreme task to capture Singapore. Singapore is like a belt buckle which binds the British and American navies at the opposite side of the earth. Its fall would be a major catastrophe, almost as serious as the loss of New York City would be in Atlantic warfare.

I do not expect the Japanese to take Singapore. To prevent such a disaster of the first magnitude, the U. S. Navy will make herculean efforts to deal the Japanese navy a paralyzing blow: the Dutch navy and air force will make a supreme effort; all the resources of New Zealand and Australia will be mobilized and every available plane that the United States and Britain can press into service will move to the defense of Singapore.

There have been occasions when it was necessary for the Nazis and the Russians to accomplish what was believed to be the impossible. The Nazis did it around the Maginot Line. The Russians did it with their backs to the Caucasus Mountains. I refuse to admit that there is not a supreme effort, and a brilliant flash of strategy somewhere in the British or American commands in the Far East. And so I state quite categorically that Singapore will be successfully defended.

While the Japanese are making their all out attack at the only time that it can possibly succeed, Hitler must do everything in his power to prevent reinforcements from moving against them. The news of the last week indicated clearly that such action was being taken. Reinforcements were sent to Rommel and he was ordered to advance against the British forces in North Africa regardless of losses sustained.

To distract American reinforcements from the Pacific zone, German long ranging submarines were ordered from the Mediterranean and West Coast of Africa to attack our shipping along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. This shows definitely that the high command of the dictatorships is working in smooth harmony. They are pressing their great geographical advantages to the limit.

However Germany is capable of doing more than she is doing at present. She must do something bold and brilliant immediately to offset the Russian situation. The Nazis have large numbers of troops and great military supplies available for a push through southern Europe. Hitler must create new victories immediately, and the only field where they may be accomplished is in North Africa. This would also aid materially in bolstering the crumbling Italian morale.

There are three logical routes for such a move. One would be via Spain and Gibraltar. But Spain is believed to be suffering from epidemics of a terrible disease and that makes the movement of troops through Spanish territory very hazardous.

Another route is via Turkey across the Dardanelles. This move might bring war with Turkey. For the Russians have shown how to put the bee on the Nazis, and the Turks are tougher soldiers than the Russians. In the present circumstances they would probably fight any Nazi move through their beloved homeland. This route would also open up new supplies of oil, but as the Roumanian oil fields are entirely in German hands the Germans will think more than twice before invading Turkey.

There remains one other route open to Hitler—and I think he will take his army down through Italy to the toe of the boot, crossing via the island of Sicily to the French Colony of Tunisia.

There is just one great kick left in the Nazi corpse. And that kick will be made southward. Germany has to move her supplies and troops over less than two thousand miles via this route to North Africa; while the British have to move their supplies and soldiers over more than twelve thousand miles to reach the same spot. The move through Tunisia would involve the Nazis with the French peanut vendors of Vichy, which is not likely to throw any fear into anyone outside of France.

Strong German reinforcements in North Africa can make things very bad for the British; And, in addition, if the Germans move through Algeria and Morocco and establish submarine bases along the west coast of Africa, it will make the task of the British Navy in convoying soldiers and supplies to the British North African armies still more difficult.

Should the Germans be victorious in a strong effort against the British in North Africa, and the Japanese be successful in their attack on Singapore; it would not mean defeat in the war for the allies from our point of view. But it would prolong the war indefinitely.

And looking at the conflict from Hitler's point of view, it is not absolutely necessary for Germany to win the war. By taking advantage of the allies' great difficulty in moving men and munitions over great expanses of water, he hopes to make the war so long and costly for the allies that he may be able to obtain what the diplomats term a negotiated peace. Or, in the language of the sporting world, by the employment of his present tactics, in cooperation with the Japanese, Hitler hopes to get "a good break."

The situation in the Pacific, and particularly the relationship of Russia, Japan and the United States will be discussed next week "Under the Magnolia Tree."

Let's get together and see that No. 8 is paved from Grenada to Minter City. We already have some powerful help.

F. D. C. MEETING

The Grenada Chapter United Lancers of the Confederacy had their January meeting in the home of Mrs. R. B. Townes on College Boulevard the afternoon of the 29th inst. (one week delayed on account of illness of the president). A most fitting program was had in this lovely historic home, once the home of our own beloved and honored citizen, General Edward Cary Walthall.

Many chapters over the state were staging programs of our incomparable leaders in the "War between the States." Generals Robert E. Lee and T. J. Jackson ("Stonewall"). So the Grenada chapter felt that as their birthdays happened so close together, it was good to celebrate the two together.

Accordingly at the appointed hour, a goodly number of loyal members having arrived, the house was called to order, and opened with prayer by our honored guest speaker, Prof. John Rumble, of our city schools. The usual order of business having been transacted, Mrs. Joe Thomas read a splendid paper on the life of General Lee which was much enjoyed and appreciated. The president then gave a short talk on "Grenada in Civil War Times," by request of our State Historian. The climax of the afternoon was reached with Mr. Rumble's magnificent rendition of the life of General Jackson. His childhood, boyhood, school days, four years at U. S. Military Academy and his army life. So much of information, so replete with detail, so little known or given in the average history that it seemed a shame that every man, woman, and child in the county could not have heard it.

The chapter is most grateful and appreciative of Mr. Rumble's kindness in giving us of his wonderful storehouse of information. The consensus of opinion was that nothing could have been finer.

Your reporter feels it were well if the High and Junior High Schools could induce him to give it to them at the church some fine morning.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
HAS VISITOR OF NOTE

The meeting of the First Presbyterian Church Auxiliary on Monday afternoon at the church had special interest through the visit of Miss Dora Hwa, christened Light Jade Hwa, of China, a young lady who is a graduate of the Law Department, University of Kansas, and at present a student of Political Science at Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss.

Miss Hwa accompanied Mrs. Boyd Campbell, nee Louise Horton, to Grenada and they were the guests of Attorney and Mrs. Cowles Horton while here. It was Mrs. Horton who introduced this interesting, as well as charming young lady to the audience made up of the Presbyterian Auxiliary and several members of the Episcopal Auxiliary.

Of great interest were such statements as, "China is 51 percent Christian," "Gasoline Costs $7.50 per gallon on the coast and $15.00 a gallon in the interior," "At the great Memorial Church (Methodist) in her home town, they feed the poor every day as they (the poor) form a 'rice line' at the church's door."

Her grandfather gave her $10,000 to bring to America for her American education, but when the $10,000 was exchanged for American money it amounted to only $500.00.

The automobiles of China are run by oils obtained from soybeans or cotton seed, as China has no gasoline of her own. Miss Hwa's assertion that the privation of five years of tragic war with Japan had caused the revival of and the furthering of all kinds of inventive genius, laboratory discoveries and a marked revival of study by the young people of the entire country. They are unified and working in their fight against a common enemy.

Miss Hwa's very presence in the small auditorium Monday afternoon told of as great events as did her actual words. She was an inspiration for noble acts in her very sincerity. She made adroit comparisons between her homeland and America, and most certainly she inspired those present to view the horizon with more vision. Her appearance on Sunday evening at League meeting time (held at Presbyterian Church) proved very wonderful for the young people of Grenada, and also the Auxiliary members will long remember the true Christian message brought them by Miss Light Jade Hwa—known in America as Miss Dora Hwa.

On Wednesday, the Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met at the Church at 10 a. m. in their observance of the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions. Mrs. Gertrude Marders is secretary of Foreign Mission work, and the book studied by the Auxiliary is "Foundation of World Order by our six Missionaries."

This splendid program was a broadcast (arranged by Mr. Wells) from the following Missionaries: From China by Mrs. Willard Odum; from Africa, by Mrs. Wagner; from Japan by Mrs. Billy Hoffa. Mrs. Bland was the announcer for the broadcasting station.

At the conclusion of the "broadcast" the ladies served a delicious lunch of spaghetti, hot rolls, potato chips, pickles, coffee and dessert of pecan pies.

In the afternoon a round table discussion led by Mrs. Marders was held. Mrs. Ben Adams spoke for the Missionary from Korea; Mrs. H. W. Baker for the Missionary from Brazil; Mrs. Harry Adams for the work being done in Mexico.

The meeting closed at three o'clock. The attendance was approximately 40 ladies. Mrs. W. W. Whitaker was invited to the session and as a luncheon guest, Mrs. Erle Johnston, of Muskogee, Okla., a former member of the Auxiliary was also included as guest of the Auxiliary on this occasion.

RAY WEIR CELEBRATES
BIRTHDAY

On the afternoon of February 1st, Ray Weir, fine young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Weir, celebrated his tenth birthday by inviting a group of his friends to a beautifully planned birthday party. A patriotic motif was charmingly carried out in the decorations, favors and refreshments.

As the young guests arrived, each with a present for Ray, they placed their gift on a table in the dining room and were then invited to the attic play room for games. After many games had been enjoyed, the young host's mother served refreshments.

The lovely birthday cake of chocolate with white icing had as decoration an American Flag. Dainty candy bars on blue back ground also the seven red and six white stripes with ten white candles as the flag pole also to signify 10 years proved lovely indeed.

American flags were at each guest's place at the table, and were given as favors. Vanilla cream, with individual white cakes, embossed with red colored U. S. was served and after the candles were extinguished the large cake was cut and served. Ray then opened all of the many gifts and thanked each of his guests. The list included: Ray Weir, Sonny Hubbard, Eli Whitaker, Jr., Jimmie Cooley, Bobby Burkley, Terrell Griffin, Peggy Jean McCormick, Betty Ann Bowen, Catherine Ann Patty, Norrell Noble, Florence Ann Pressgrove, Donald Allen Mitchell, Lewis Weir, Jr., Betty Isenberg, Ann Horton, Jean Weir and Peggie Jean Collins.

Aunt Ellis Terrell, one of Grenada's finest elderly ladies, has been laid up for several weeks, but she will be going to Memphis to the Fair next year to be sure.

Since the members of Congress have voted themselves pensions, there will be no incentive for them to run again; and damn little excuse for the people to vote for such blood-suckers again.

We now suggest that the members of the state legislature vote themselves substantial pensions so that, after dillydallying about Jackson for a month or so every other year, they can retire and live upon the State of Mississippi.

If Congressmen are entitled to pension, why not enact a law to pension the county supervisors who catch more hell in a month than a Congressman does in a year, and are a damn sight more important.

Then the action by Congress sets a precedent for the aldermen. Let them pension themselves after their terms expire.

To make the think universal in its application, let's all get a pension.

As far as I am concerned I do not expect to vote for a damn one of the men in Congress who voted for that atrocious pension bill, letting the chips fall where they may.

"Miss" Carrie Laycock sent Frank Houston in with a check, and this is proper notice that Frank got here with it.

A lady who was not going anywhere particularly and had an abundance of time to get there just started her car with a whizz and a roar, wearing off about two hundred miles of rubber from the irreplaceable rubber on the rear wheels of her car. Oh, me, there is nothing for me to do about it; but she will be walking pretty soon, like I do.

There are employers in Grenada yet who think that, to be subject to Social Security taxes, one must have at least 8 employees. There was never a bigger fallacy. It cost me $104.00 to learn that I am giving this advice out free of all charges.

I sorter smell that Jim Eastland is going to be a candidate for the U. S. Senate this year. My nose also detects an odor that indicates that Mike Conner will make another try for the governorship next year.

It CAN happen to us.

While the U. S. Constitution clearly forbids members of Congress raising their own salaries during the current term, it does not forbid them from voting themselves pensions; but the implication certainly is that the Congressmen should NOT add either to their present (or future) emoluments. To say the least, it is damnably inequitable.

Alnt they sweet.

G. R. PARTY

The Girl Reserve party proved to be a "wowing" success Monday night, just as we had predicted. Miss Bess Herron of the State Y. W. C. A. board led the party very ably.

The gym was decorated in red, white and blue crepe paper bows. There were four groups of girls whose goal was to try to get the most points by entering different girls into contests. The groups were divided into the red group, the white group, and the blue group, and the star group. Dot Talbert, Mary Lou Cullen, Anne Odum, and Libba Horton were group leaders. It seemed very doubtful at one time about who was going to win. The Blues were ahead from the first and were secretly contemplating victory. The last contest brought ruin to the Blues and victory (ah, sweet victory) to the Whites, which was Dot Talbert's group.

The brilliant climax was the serving of hot dogs and cokes, which proved very fitting for the occasion.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR

Tuesday night, troop 15, under the direction of Mr. C. V. McKell, chairman, held a Court of Honor, at which several scouts received merit badges. Mr. B. E. Norris, of Clarksdale, was present to give important information pertaining to the Scout waste paper drive and the organization of a group of older scouts in the Emergency Corps. The Emergency Corps is for first class scouts fifteen years old or over. The requirements include certain pertinent merit badges; the scout must have the written consent of their parents, and must be in condition to pass a physical examination. These requirements are in addition to the training which the Scout must undergo before they are eligible to receive the badges which give them the authority to work with the Red Cross and other organizations. Its primary use is to be of help in emergencies in which qualified Scouts have been trained. At present there is only one scout in this region who is qualified and that is Jasper LaPresto, an executive from Clarksdale.

The older scouts, of whom Grenada has some of the finest in this region should give this special attention and attend all meetings. It means that one of the largest and most efficient organizations in the United States, the Boy Scouts of America, can be of help in the present crisis.

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT

"Boogie-Woogie" came to chapel on Wednesday and along with it came Grenada's Philharmonic orchestra, better known as the Grenada "Hot-Spots." The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Dollarhide. The orchestra's theme is "Garden of the Stars," which was played as the first number. The selections played were the swing versions of "Long, Long Ago," "Blue Champagne," "Come Back to Brin," and "I Guess I'll have to Dream the Rest." The audience stood and sang "God Bless America," and "Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by the orchestra.

The members of the orchestra are: Rogers Pleasant and Lynn Rose on the tenor saxophones; Mary Elizabeth Cowan, Patty Stockard, Brannon Anderson, and Bobby Alexander on alto saxophones; S. B. Cowan, Jay Gore, and Mr. Dollarhide, on cornets; Geo. Granberry and Billy Theisman on trombone; Dot Talbert, the piano; Bobby Townes, bass horn; and that drum-beating boy from way back yonder—Johnny Mitchell, Brannon Anderson doubles on the clarinet.

The Hot-Spots have a library of 75 pieces.

TEACH YOURSELF

Often times young men will tell you that they wished they had studied their lessons more thoroughly and made better grades so that they could get better jobs. If you could place yourself in that same position, would you study harder? We should learn from the experience of others what to do and what not to do. "Experience is a dear school, but fools will learn in no other and scarce in that," said Poor Richard. Can't we get a little information from that maxim? If someone else has trod a certain path and found that it leads to nothing, why should we, using what intelligence we have, want to go the same way? There is no doubt that what we are doing at the present time will shape our future. Study yourself. Are you weak in spelling? Why not spend a few hours reviewing a spelling book? If you realize that ignorance can be overcome by study, then why stay in the "dark" about studies? Find fault with all that you do and try to correct your mistakes. Then you do not do your best work, you are not only failing your work but you are stepping on your own toes.

Learn to be your own teacher and you'll not mind school work!

IT WOULDN'T BE GRENADA IF: Charlie Barranco didn't "whiz" around in his blue Buick.

Someone wasn't practicing in the auditorium.

The Juniors and Seniors didn't put on their fancy clothes and go to a feed that gets better every year.

Monty Daigre wasn't having a fit over some Algebra problem.

Algebra class—ditto.

G. H. S. had a "coke" machine.

Students didn't flock to Nick's and Rose cafe to hear the "Juke" box.

Benton Keeton wasn't going to see Emma Jean or with her.

BASKETBALL GAMES

The G. H. S. girls' winning streak was interrupted Friday night when Gore Springs girls won over them with a 20 to 23 score. Hazel Turner was captain for the girls' team that night.

The local boy eazers strictly made up for the girls' loss by romping all over the "Gore Springers." Their score was 24 and Gore Springs was 8. The next game will be with Holcomb in their new gym.

DIRT

Inquisitive: How many students are there in high school?
Dope: Bout one in every ten.

Wishful thinking: Wouldn't it be nice to get to hear the orchestra every week or so?

Just imagine a coke machine, and candy counter in the halls?

It sure did take Frances and Bill a long time to walk home Tuesday night from the picture show.

Benton stepped out with Miss La York Sunday night.

We put the "ideal" boy in last week but it wouldn't be very diplomatic to put the ideal girl in. We might have our eyes scratched out.

Anne Odum and Marguerite said they had a fine time in Oxford Friday on a debate trip.

According to W. T. Hill, his love I "like a red, red rose, that newly sprung in June."

It seems that Miss Margaret Green has been doing quite a bit of stopping on with a certain "Hal" of Grenada's drug.

Will Horton and Monty Daigre, it is rumored, the whole English 14 class Thursday when they didn't know their poetry.

If it had been a real live Friday, Benton Keeton might not have been in our midst today, as he was the last one out. He said he didn't want his books to burn up.

Rocke Rhett was seen, spitting one of our star reporters, Roberta Allen, around the old home town "Saturday" night. Also seen around were Warren Robinson and Neil Rayburn.

It seems that up one hill, captured Guy Robinson's heart, yet. We've given the G. H. S. girls several months, but we are willing to give them a time extension.

Lynn Rose was seen with Dr. Lee Morrow Thursday night.

Jimmie Hale and Lynn Moss, Jay Gore and Mazze went out on a date some Friday night by standing in evening at Mazze's house.

Dolly Richardson says the official statement that she was through with blind dates.

A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day.—Revelation 1:10.

The Sabbath of the Jew and the Lord's Day (Sunday) of the Christian were both intended to be days of rest. The ordinary activities of life were to cease and one was to be free to worship and to rest. The manner in which a man uses this God-given day of rest is a remarkably accurate indicator of his spiritual condition.

We have before us the account of a very busy Sabbath day which our Lord spent in Capernaum, the city in which most of His mighty works were done, but which ignored Him and His teaching to its own destruction (see Matt. 11:23, 24). As we look at our Lord's activity on that day we learn what we may do with our Sundays to make them bear fruit for eternity. We find Him in three places.

I. In the Church (vv. 21-28).

The Sabbath day found our Lord with His people in the synagogue, their place of worship. The service of worship was probably formal and lacking in spiritual vitality, but nonetheless He was there. What have we to say if we miss the opportunity for fellowship and service which church attendance brings us?

Observe that because He was there He (as a distinguished religious teacher) was called upon to teach the people. He taught them in the serene consciousness of His divine authority, and the people were delighted and astonished at His message. We may not serve exactly as He did, but if we present ourselves in God's house on His day we will find the way opening for us to share in the worship.

Jesus not only spoke, but He performed a miracle. Certain it is that we could not do what He did, but we can be ready to give ourselves in service as well as in worship, or in speaking. There is much work to be done in the church, and God's people should be ready and willing to do it.

II. In the Home (vv. 29-31).

From the synagogue Christ went into the home. How appropriate! We too should go from the church to the home, always bringing with us the strength and blessing of the worship service.

The daughter of a great preacher and Bible teacher said the thing she most loved in her father was that he did not give out the "cream" of his Christianity in his meetings and bring home the "skim milk." Too often we fail to bring into the home the power and beauty of the service in the church. We who have been very sweet and spiritual in the church should not come home to be sour and crabbed.

Jesus brought a blessing into Peter's home, miraculously healing his mother-in-law of a great fever, setting her free to serve. Here again we cannot do what He did, but we can, in His name, bring power and blessing into our homes.

III. In the City (vv. 32-34).

From the home the ministry of Jesus reached out to the entire city. As the strict laws forbidding travel on the Jewish Sabbath were set aside by the coming of sundown, not only the city but the entire countryside brought their sick and needy to Him.

The scene staggers the imagination as one attempts to conceive of this coming together of troubled humanity for the Master's touch. Mark tells us that He healed many; Matthew, that He healed all; and Luke, the physician, is emphatic in saying that He healed every one of them.

We may learn from this incident that our Christian faith, which has been developed and strengthened by our time of worship and service in the church, should not only reflect itself in the home, but should reach out into the life of the community in which we live. The primary interest of the Christian in his city or the place of his residence should be spiritual, a desire to bring to bear upon the people of the community the power of the gospel.

There is, however, a secondary responsibility which is of much importance and that is the extending of Christian influence into every phase of school, social, political, and business life. It is said that when D. L. Moody came into a barber shop the entire course of the conversation changed. The Christian should have an influence on problems of social welfare, the work of the public schools, the proper conduct of business in the community, and surely upon its political life. It is said that if every Christian in America would vote according to his professed convictions we could put the saloons out of business in a single election. Why not do it?

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

CARY GRANT, just finishing "Arsenic and Old Lace" on the Warner lot at Burbank, Calif., is expected to apply for his final American citizenship papers any day now. He was preparing to complete his Americanization when England declared war on Germany, and stopped, figuring it as a slack act. When he informed the British authorities that he was ready for any task they might assign him to, they told him to remain in Hollywood. So he began dividing his earnings between the needy here and in England; they got the $100,000 which he received for "The Philadelphia Story," and he's donating $100,000 of his "Arsenic" earnings; all the money must be spent here.

Loretta Young finally revenged her screen sisters who have had to take slaps in the face and well-aimed blows in the name of their art. She caught Frederic March bent over with laughter during a scene in Columbia's "Bedtime Story."

LORETTA YOUNG

ry" and launched a kick which not only deposited March in the gutter but also left him with his face in a mud puddle. To make matters worse, they had to make four takes before the scene was right—which meant four kicks, four descents into the mud for March.

George Brent had his first kissing scene with Olivia de Havilland in the forthcoming "In This Our Life." While they were making it Ann Sheridan, who works for the same studio, was on the set watching, and Brent seemed a bit bashful. "Go ahead, George, and give her a real kiss," urged Ann. "Just pretend that Annie doesn't live here any more." A week later, Ann and George were married.

For two musical misfits who couldn't get a break in New York a few years ago because they couldn't carry a tune, comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are doing all right. They got their first good break by promising to learn to sing, and succeeded as comedians while they were learning. They've just made their first record, and are preparing for their next picture, "Rio Rita."

Gary Cooper probably wishes with all his heart that Lou Gehrig hadn't been a left-hander. Preparing for "Pride of the Yankees," the story of Gehrig's life, Gary is studying slow-motion pictures of Babe Herman and working like mad with Lefty O'Doul, trying to learn to use that left hand as if it came natural.

We'll be seeing a new patriotic picture before the year is over. It's "American Cavalcade," and will tell the story of Mr. and Mrs. America through dramatic historic incidents and music. It is intended for Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn.

RKO Radio is going to film the story of General Billy Mitchell, the flying general who was court-martialed because he believed so implicitly that planes were important to an army. It should be one of the year's important films.

It looks as if radio has another "God Bless America" in "They Can't Black Out the Stars and Stripes," a new song written by Elliott Jacoby, musical director of the air's "Meet Mr. Meek," in collaboration with Private Jacob Goldstein of Mitchell Field.

Jimmy Durante, rated as a star by Warner Bros. since he made "You're in the Army Now" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," says he will revive the famous comedy team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante to entertain the boys in army camps.

ODDS AND ENDS—Betty Grable and Victor Mature are not so very good in Fox's "I Wake Up Screaming," but they're trying again in "White Collar Girl." The bombing scenes of "Captains of the Clouds" were hard on Brenda Marshall, whose father is manager of a large sugar plantation in the Philippines. Robert Taylor and Norma Shearer, last seen together in "Escape," will be teamed romantically in "Love Me Not." Speech experts declare that Spencer Tracy can pick up any accent and speak like a native in several hours. 20th Century-Fox has a story for Pat O'Brien that he likes—"Calling Manilla."

Japanese Lose Heavily at Macassar When Dutch and U. S. Forces Unite; Compromise Price Control Passes; Additional Food Rationing Forecast

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

There was no sightseeing for these Axis evacuees from South America as they went through the Panama Canal Zone to the United States. Part of the group of 111 persons, including seven German and seven Italian diplomats, are pictured debarking from the special train which carried them across the isthmus. Uncle Sam took no chances of any Axis sightseeing, which would have been possible had the passage been made by boat.

MACASSAR:

First Victory

Americans had hailed the Battle of Macassar straits as the first definite American victory over the Japanese, worked out in conjunction with the indomitable Dutch. The action amounted to the virtual trapping of a large Jap convoy in the straits, probably heading for a frontal assault on Java or Sumatra, and its virtual decimation with heavy losses in men and ships for the Nippon forces. The fight lasted several days, and a number of Japanese warships were engaged by light American naval vessels including destroyers and submarines, and by considerable forces of airplanes. One of the earliest ships sent to the bottom in the engagement was a Jap aircraft carrier, and if she was not sunk she was immobilized by a direct torpedo hit, and that meant she was useless as a carrier. This meant instant air supremacy for the American-Dutch forces, and they went to work without mercy. One vessel after another was destroyed and as others were damaged and the Japs attempted to keep their convoy intact by slowing their pace to that of the slowest vessel, they were hopelessly trapped. It apparently took more than six days for the Japs to negotiate the less than 500-mile journey through the straits, and the toll was upward of 31 vessels. The engagement showed several things—that strong air reinforcements had arrived from the United States into the area; that they were being deployed effectively to prevent a further southward Japanese invasion of the East Indies; that American naval units, once at grips with the Japs, could give a good account of themselves; that the early toll of two ships a day could easily be enlarged to a deadly amount of shipping, an amount which the Japanese could not lose and continue their pace in the South Pacific.

PRICES:
Bill Passed
The passage of the compromise price control bill, setting ceilings on 74 commodities, brought to a head a situation which now was in the hands of the government, namely inflation of commodity prices. From this point on it would be a criminal offense to sell anything above the ceiling price. The senate vote had been at a higher ratio than the house, 65 to 14. President Roosevelt had been expected to name Leon Henderson to the post of price administrator, set up in the bill. Henderson had been doing what he could along this line from his OPACS office, and had been placed in the War Production board under Nelson. All Henderson's previous work, wherever it did not conflict with the ceilings in the bill, immediately was validated, and became the law of the land, just as though congress itself had announced the ceilings. Maximum penalties were one year in prison and a $5,000 fine for willful violations of the law. A fight had been expected against Henderson on the grounds that the former administrator had been close to the President, who himself had been chief critic of the bill.

U-BOATS:
Active in Atlantic
A constant succession of sinkings of American and allied vessels in the north Atlantic, many of them close to the coastline, had revealed that U-boat activity was being pressed to the utmost. The U. S. navy reports from the eastern ocean had been that their efforts were being redoubled, and that certain successes had been scored. The policy of not announcing U-boat sinkings was being followed, however.

LUZON:

MacArthur's Fight

Though MacArthur's men were admittedly in a desperate position, it had become evident that he was getting at least some reinforcement, as his latest communiques had told of American "fighter planes," and also of the work of PT boat squadrons in Subic bay and at other points, probably near Corregidor. But it had not been believed that MacArthur's army had any airplanes left, therefore his report that Curtis P-40 fighters had downed a number of Jap bombers led many to think that they might have been flown in there from a distant base. How many of the Japanese estimated Luzon army of 300,000 was able to get at MacArthur's men in their tiny front on Bataan peninsula was a problem, as many of them naturally would have to be holding the rear and supply lines against constant harassment of guerrilla bands of Filipinos.

RATIONING:

To Increase

Additional rationing was deemed a certainty, with the placing of sugar on a pound-a-week basis. In fact, it was known that those who controlled the priorities were frowning even on some of the civilian defense activities. Among these were the "indiscriminate knitting of sweaters," which was said to have a bearing on a possible shortage of wool. Another was the selling of commodities in tin cans when they could be otherwise packaged or sold in bulk. Among the list was baking powder, beer, biscuits, candy, confectionery, cereals and flour, chocolate and cocoa, coffee, dog food, petroleum products, spices and condiments and tobacco. Shipbuilders were being asked so to design their ships that they could use steel of the type milled for automobiles—somewhat narrower plates. Leon Henderson would be in charge of retail rationing, and James S. Knowlson in charge of that which occurred in industrial quarters, it was announced.

RUSSIANS:

Find Going Tougher

As the Russians announced that the "last live German" had been removed from Moscow province, and that the invaders in the Rhev area were trapped and doomed, and as they swarmed ever closer to Smolensk, they reported that the Nazi resistance was growing stiffer. This, the Red high command said, was to be expected, but they drew much cheer from the fact that one victory was following another still, and that the general tactical campaign was shaping up well. One expert in Red tactics said much credit was being given to a new Russian system of putting fairly heavy artillery into the front line with the infantry.

This, he pointed out, was a bold procedure, but one which the Germans, with nothing heavier than trench mortars in the front line, were finding it difficult to combat. The Russians have 48 mm. guns and some 76s in the front lines, and though they are not so mobile, they are even being handled by manpower when horses cannot be found to draw them.

These guns fire at point-blank range, and were given much credit in winning the battle of Moshaisk, a heavily fortified point. The death toll is terrific in warfare at 40 below zero. Correspondents at the front state that wounded die within 10 or 15 minutes unless kept immediately warm, as their wounds instantly freeze.

The Russians, however, being adept at life under such conditions are reportedly suffering much less than the ill-equipped and prepared Germans.

Liking One's Duty

YOUR TAX MONEY

(By JOHN DOE)

Have you often asked yourself, "Why do I pay Taxes?" "Where does the Tax money go?" and "Who all are paying the Taxes?"

Do not, and should not these questions arise in the mind of the average person, the farmer, the doctor, the professional man, the banker, the business man and all citizens, especially now that you and I are engaged in a World War that will require the expenditure of much tax money to prosecute to a final and successful conclusion; this we must do.

These are some of the questions and matters which we may consider, together with the things discussed relative to Federal Taxation, at the meeting of those interested from Tennessee, Arkansas, and Mississippi, the Tri-State, held at Hotel Peabody, Memphis, Tennessee.

Instead of probably looking for deductions in our income and Federal tax reports, of course we all know that we wait to pay all the legal tax due to help finance this war; not simply to assist the Government, but in reality, to help ourselves, because in the final analysis, we constitute the Government and Taxation is thus of benefit to us. Some of us may be too young, or may have dependents at this time and are too old to go to war, but we must consider it, yes—a privilege, as stated by the President, to be able to purchase War Savings Stamps and "Defense" Bonds, to assist this great country of ours in this hour of need.

The purpose of the Government is to collect only the taxes that are due, and it will also save the Government time, trouble and expense for you to make such deductions in your income tax report as are allowed by law. The Government seeks to collect that which is due—not a penny more, nor a penny less, and will spend many dollars to require the payment of an honest tax that is owing. A tax which is legal and proper must be of benefit to you; in fact, the tax which is of no benefit is no tax at all, it is equivalent to plundering and confiscation to collect a tax which is of no benefit to the farmer or the citizen. Our Mississippi Supreme Court has said that to assess and collect a tax which is out of proportion to the benefit received, is to that extent the taking of property in violation of the due process clause of our Constitution.

From time immemorial we have had to have taxation and Government; this nation is founded upon law and Government, and the better law enforcement we have, the stronger is our Government.

The power to tax is the power to destroy. Thus, our Courts have decreed that this power must be exercised very wisely and cautiously. Of course we must have our law-enforcing agencies, and the average citizen is glad to pay equitable taxes which are used to defray the expenses and salaries of those charged with the duties of carrying out the law and executing the work of our various governmental departments. Executive, Legislative, and Judicial. The man who pays house and farm taxes also assists in paying the taxes as well as the man who owns and pays taxes on his property and lands. However, it is the tax that is of no possible benefit to the average citizen or landowner that makes him look at it as the tax which is so inequitable and unreasonable that has caused you and I to dislike taxation, and it has been well said that the two sure things of life are death and taxation, although it may not be advisable to place taxation in the same category with death. Life has its disappointments as well as its pleasures, and we must learn to take the "bitter" along with the "sweet." We know that to constitute the human being and develop along with science and civilization, we must have some enjoyment, science, education, religion, work and play, and many of us are willing to work, but we also enjoy recreation, physical and mental—for instance, the great war President Woodrow Wilson and many of us enjoy the picture show, and yet in addition to the Federal taxes, there is an unreasonable State tax of 10 percent on your motion picture theatre admission—that is not just a few mills or a penny or two, but ten cents that amount. It is just as necessary to have some mental recreation as it is food.

and why should such an enormous and ridiculous tax be charged on your picture show admission, that must be paid. Another tax which has constituted a first mortgage on our lands, and which has no doubt helped to lead our farmers towards bankruptcy and the bankruptcy courts, is the drainage tax. John Dugger's agricultural school book says that as to South Atlantic States, "No artificial drainage is necessary, except that to prevent washing." Some artificial or canal drainage may be used in the low Everglades of Florida, where the land is only about twenty feet above sea level, but the lands in this section are from 135 to 200 feet above sea level, and it is a known fact that if the water flows off the land too fast, it removes the capillary moisture from the top soil of the land and without that moisture, the land will become dry and the plants will die. Of course where the majority of the landowners wish to establish a drainage district and sign a petition to this effect, in the effort to cut a canal, drain the water from their lands and benefit the land, since ours is a government by the majority, then the proposed district will be established. Under our Mississippi law, a third of the landowners owning a majority of the land, or a third of the land owned by a majority of the landowners, are to sign the petition, but while discussing this matter of drainage, it seems that lately a majority of the landowners or farmers in any immediate section have not sought to establish any drainage district presumably having learned the above established principles. However, we have in mind one such district in which there was positively no canal of any kind dug, and yet the drainage assessments aggregate $6.50 per acre, on every acre of land in the drainage district. How could such tax be of any possible benefit to the land? In another instance the drainage tax was $36.00 an acre, and another, $56.40 an acre, and yet at best, the lands were not worth over twenty or thirty dollars an acre; is not that what we call unjust taxation?

Our problem is one of erosion, and proper conservation. It seems the farmers are now trying to follow the practice of land terracing, rotation, diversification, and soil conservation, in order to save the soil.

The County, City and the State combined, maintain the schools, good roads, streets, pavements, and many other public improvements for the use and benefit of the citizens; also, you have the Courts and Officials to register and preserve the Deed and Title to your land, and without them, what would be the value of your land; upon recording your Deed, the boundaries of your property and lands are fixed, and you do not have to stand guard with a shotgun to protect your interests. This is just one instance of the responsibilities and duties of good Government.

"Taxation without representation is tyranny," this was the great principle for which our forefathers fought the Revolutionary War of seven long years; that we might have representative government, and freedom and liberty. And, following victory, we all won the peace. Our representatives assembled in Philadelphia on the 30th day of May, 1787, to organize and establish our United States and Federal Constitution; 56 of the 62 delegates appointed, had assembled, and 39 of them signed the final draft of the Constitution. There was general agreement that the Congress had to have the power to lay and collect taxes, regulate foreign and interstate commerce, and render the governmental functions necessary for a self-respecting and self-governing people. Section 8 of Article One was written into the Constitution, which allowed Congress to lay and collect taxes, and after much discussion and consideration, the Convention finally closed its doors on the 17th of September of that year, 1787, adopting a Constitution that has stood the test of time. And, Section 112 and other Sections of our Mississippi Constitution, allow the State Government to levy a tax on property in proportion to its value, and most of us are familiar with the methods of assessment and State taxation.

There are several methods of Federal Taxation: The income tax, the tax on companies or corporations, the excess profits tax, as well as the capital stock.

Estate, and gift taxes, although you and I are probably more affected by, and more familiar with the Income Tax. Under the recent United States income tax law, all single persons having an earning capacity of more than $750.00 for the year, March 15, 1941, to March 15, 1942, are taxed at the rate of 4 percent on all the amount earned above the said $750.00; that is, single persons are allowed an exemption of $750.00; married persons $1,500.00, and $400.00 for each child or dependant. Of course there are certain things for which you are allowed deductions: For insurance, premiums paid for theft and fire insurance are deductible, although life insurance premiums are not; costs of feeding and raising livestock, ordinary tools of small cost or short life, and repairs, are all deductible.

At the meeting of those interested in Federal Taxation, Mr. Frank Edgingfield, Senior Advisor of the Internal Revenue Technical Staff, from Washington, D. C., discussed the methods used by the ten divisions and 37 field agencies, in adjusting the differences between the bureau and the citizens relative to the payment of certain taxes; the southern division including Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, and Tennessee, with office also at Nashville, with Mr. Walter M. Bane, Technical Advisor, in charge; and the Southwestern Division including the States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, and Mississippi, and the Internal Revenue Bureau office located in New Orleans, with Acting Technical Advisor William P. Blake in charge. While it may be well to consider the employment of someone who attempts to understand and prosecute the legal methods used in deciding these matters, at the same time the individual citizen may correspond with such offices relative to any such differences, and by letter make any appeal necessary to the Technical Staff and Board of Tax Appeals in Washington. While the Technical Staff may review any matter involving less than $20,000.00, any amount above that is also considered by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Also, any matter involving more than $75,000.00 must be reviewed by the Congressional Committee. Therefore, you may see that the rights of the citizens are well protected; in fact, the first of the twelve rules adopted by the Technical Staff of the bureau, and which rules have now been made and published for the first time, provides that the taxing of property not under the law, is a violation of the Constitution and amounts to taking the property in violation of due process, and if there is any possible doubt or uncertainty as to whether or not the tax should be levied, the doubt is resolved in favor of you and the Citizen....

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Guy Mann, our good friend and Prich Horton's good right arm, celebrated Christmas by renewing his subscription to the GCW, and that shows how far we are behind.

The jurors in the Orie case had a grand time spending the week-end at Hotel Barwin. Whether anyone was thoughtful enough to send them plenty of licker, some dice and several decks of cards, we have not been advised, nor have we been advised whether either of the jurors, using the Gideon Bibles, taught the International Sunday School lesson Sunday.

Well, we have been able to get by another first of the month and this fortunate get-by was due to good luck and the continued indulgence of our creditors.

Greenfield and Horn did not have time to get into devilment Friday and Saturday, but there is no telling what they did on Sunday.

The average run of people are not taking this war seriously enough. Maybe they will awaken when the flag-draped boxes begin returning from the Orient.

To our steadily growing subscription list we have added the name of Mrs. A. B. Burns, a native of this county who now lives in Pineville, La. Wonder if Mr. Ball is still Mayor of Pineville, and whether Mrs. LeCraw still lives there. The old lady and I, as war bride and groom, lived there and lived at the LeCraw home and at the Ball home.

Aint they sweet.

Will Bell shucked out a dollar fifty sometime ago to get back into good standing. He did not save to be dunned, sued, garnished, or intimidated. He paid up without coercion.

These government windshield sticker stamps are not very prevalent in Grenada. Uncle Sam is likely to send in the militia and get that money.

Senator Winter reported that his bill to exempt soldiers from the payment of poll taxes and to permit them to cast absentee ballots, will likely pass without any trouble.

I am glad that, in addition to all my other worries, I do not NOW have to worry with what the legislators are doing. I could give them a lot of editorial advice, but the war is on, and I'm tired of messing with politicians.

As someone asked, will the rubber shortage have anything to affect the bouncing babies?

I do believe however that some sort of workman's compensation law should be passed. Mississippi is the only state in the Union which has not such a law. Surely, Mississippi cannot be right and 47 states wrong.

Did we mention that John Vickery, one of Uncle Sam's flying boys at Dove Field, is a new subscriber? Good luck, soldier.

The Catheys and the Burkleys are getting high-faluting, riding about in transcontinental airships.

Grenada has the opportunity to recapture the trade that has been going to Memphis, Jackson, and Greenwood—if its merchants will awaken to their golden opportunity.

Speaking of Holcomb, one of its nabobs, Arthur Williams, honored our office with an appreciated call recently.

Before this war is over, we are likely to be glad to get "long shortening"—molasses—in our coffee—if we have any coffee.

We have scratched our head considerably to remember who Charles H. Clark, now of Groton, Connecticut, is, but have failed. We "disremember" him, if we ever knew him. However, the $2.00 paid in for his subscription spent like other money.

Poor Mississippi!!

Wonder how Roy Boteler's hog ranch is coming on? We will bet he is making good with it, for he is a hard worker.

Sometimes I wish I was a farmer again and did not have any income, what with fooling with income taxes and all.

Americans might as well prepare (if recent events have not already prepared them) for worse news before the news gets better. We have got to pay a terrible price for our unpreparedness and for our indifference in the face of warning signs that even the blind should have been able to read.

Somebody told a friend of a friend's friend of Bad Eye that there was to be a gas mask factory located in Grenada. We are telling the source of our information, and do not guarantee its authenticity.
